UNW Transfer Policies:

- Transfer students enrolled in bachelor's or associate degree programs must earn the final 30 credits from Northwestern.
- A minimum of 50 percent of major and minor course work must be completed from Northwestern.
- Course work earned at other post-secondary institutions may be accepted by University of Northwestern subject to review and approval by the Registrar.
- Course work with grades of "C-" or higher may be transferable to Northwestern and applied to a Northwestern academic program to the extent that they fit degree or certificate requirements. (Note: Only the credits, not the grades, of transferable courses may be applicable.)

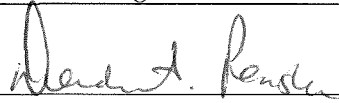

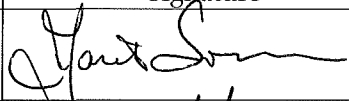

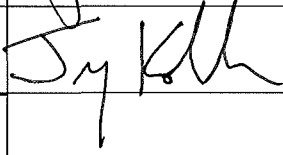

UNW Music Transfer Policies

- All transfer music major applicants must go through the Music Audition Application process (including the Online Theory Placement Exam) in order to be admitted (see www.unwsp.edu/music)
- At least fifty percent of the required ensemble credits for a music major/minor must be completed at UNW.
- The number of applied lesson credits accepted by UNW will be determined after one semester of applied lessons at UNW.
- Transfer credit for coursework in music theory or sight singing / ear training will be accepted only by placement exam. This policy applies to both transfer applicants and current UNW students. Transfer credit and/or placement in the UNW theory and sight singing / ear training sequence will be based on the applicant's performance on the exam.

UNW Core:

- The number of Core Credits needed for completion will vary depending on what MnTC courses ARCC students choose to complete. Some MnTC courses may be the equivalent of UNWSP Oral Communication, Social Sciences, Fine Arts, Literature, Mathematics, and/or Lab Science requirements.
